Dear Mr. Pfeiffer,

Am enclosing you telegram from World. It was terrible so to receive news. You promised me last week that you would let me know of any developement. After thinking things over I felt that no harm could be done and in the eyes of the public much good might accrue by reiterating my faith in Frances. Therefore merely telegraphed World, "Unalterable and unbounded confidence in Mrs. Hall now and forever." I come across too many people who are ignorant and bigoted and believe the yellow journals not to feel that a little word from her nearest friend at such a moment may count, especially as I am not altogether unknown.

I told you four years ago that this whole thing was in politics and you laughed me to scorn. I knew then and had almost absolute evidence in the matter. I begged Frances not to return to New Brunswick because I knew it would open up again and so did Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. Bonner.

Since then and throughout this whole past year I have been told by one who is very closely in touch with the matter that certain of the Carpenders, in particular Sydney, knew all about the affair at the time. His avoidance of us and reluctance to appear in the matter at all seemed very curious to me even at the time and confirms this matter. Why do you not go for Sydney and make him help you? There is no man in New Brunswick with more influence and none that knows the inside of things as he does in all New Brunswick's politics and affairs.

I don't understand why Elovine could be kept from Frances and if she wants my help with Mrs. Murray and the household shall certainly come down. I wish

when this is over you would advise Frances to leave N B. and come up to us. She can stay here until October and will be out of the state.

Can you really imagine that I need advice, even from you, to telegraph and write the friend who is dearer to me than anyone in the world but my sister? You must think my character has strangely changed in four years.

I feel perfectly distracted so far away and beg you to keep me fully informed at my expense.
We have no house telephones in this remote place and the P.O. is half a mile away to which I have to go to telegraph or telephone. But if you will indicate some given hour at which I can reach you I will always be there to telephone unless in the meantime Elovine has telegraphed me to come.

Sincerely yours
July 30th. 1926.

Mrs Hall arrested late last night on alleged new evidence and is now in Summerville jail. Will you please wire us collect whether your confidence in Mrs. Hall has in anyway been affected in recent months or by anything appearing in recent stories of renewed investigation. It is alleged that part of new evidence is statement from Louise

Giest that Barbara Tough telephoned to Mrs. Hall on evening of murder that she had seen Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills on Philips farm and that immediately Mrs. Hall, Peter Jermulky and Willie Stercus were together. Do you place any credit whatever in this story. Anything else you care to say will be greatly appreciated
